MAY 2026

MARKET COMMENTARY

I. INFLATION: The month of May 2026 saw the annual inflation accelerate further to 6.7%, the highest since January 2024, from 5.6% in the prior month. The biggest upward pressure came from prices of transportation (16.5% vs 10% in April), as the government hiked fuel prices in April and May, in the wake of rising global energy costs amid the US-Israel conflict with Iran. Prices also advanced faster for food and non-alcoholic beverages (9.4% vs 8.8%) and housing, water, electricity, gas and other fuels (3.4% vs 2.4%).

II. INTEREST RATES: Short-term interest rates rose in May. The 91-day, 182-day, and 364-day treasury bill rose by 96, 38, and 31 basis points, closing the month at 8.39%, 8.21%, and 8.59% respectively.

III. MONEY MARKET UPDATES During the week ending May 28th, liquidity in the money market remained adequate, supported by open-market operations. The overnight average interbank rate remained at 8.75% on May 28th, the same level recorded on April 29th.

IV. CURRENCY UPDATES The Kenya shilling remained relatively stable, depreciating by 0.3% against the US dollar to KES 129.55 within the month of May. Robust reserves and remittances may continue to support the currency in the short to medium term.
